What is an Identity of Interest? FHA defines an Identity of Interest as any relationship where the purchaser and seller are related and/or affiliated through a business relationship. This could, for example, be a parent/child as the buyer/seller, a corporation selling to an employee, or persons who are partners in other projects as the buyer/seller. FHA restricts the loan-to-value (LTV) ratio on such loans to 75% of the lesser of the property value plus closing or acquisition costs for investment properties/non-occupying co-borrower transactions; or 85% of the lesser of the property value plus closing or acquisition costs for owner occupied properties.

Choose the option below that best describes your situation:

- I DO NOT have an Identity of Interest: with the seller of the property I plan to purchase with the FHA financing for which I have applied.
- I DO have an Identity of Interest with the seller of the property I plan to purchase with the FHA financing for which I have applied. Further, I understand my loan-to-value (LTV) ratio is restricted as follows:
- to 85% of the lesser of the property value plus closing or acquisition costs, since I will occupy the property.
 - to 75% of the lesser of the property value plus closing or acquisition costs, since there is a non-occupying borrower or a non-occupying co-borrower which will not occupy the property as a principal residence.
